The New York Times, one of the mountain?" chief Republican organs of New York, lays the whole blame of the defeat of its party on Abraham Lincoln. He has not accomplished enough in putting down the rebellion. That is the great cause. "Whom the gods intend to destroy they first make mad.' The radicals will not look at the real cause. which all the world sees, except themselves. They are too much "nigger." The white man is disgusted with the whole business. The radicals have but one idea they have gone all lengths on that; and if the people agreed with them, nothing could have expelled them from the high places of the Government. It was the ominous outgivings of the Administration upon the everlasting negro question, the negro complexion of all the proceedings of Congress. that overwhelmed the radical party.

Beside that, there was a recklessness o the old land-marks of the Constitution se manifest in the radical press that it alarmed the people. The impression became general that this radicalism could not be trusted. The idea that the rebellion was to be put down by violent and unconstitutional expedients that would involve scenes of horror without a parallel, startled the visiof al Governor.

The masses are resolved to sustain the Government and put down the rebellion. The direct way to do it is to break down by military force the armies of the rebellion. These latter stand in the way of the enforcement of the Federal Constitution and laws, and these only are in the way. When they are defeated and broken down crow-bar. the work is done. Then the policy is preservation, not destruction. It is the will of the people that not a right is to be infringed, either of persons or property. If any are, it must be in accordance with the laws of war and our own organic laws. State Constitutions and State laws are as dear to the people of this country as the Federal Constitution and Federal laws. But, accord- Alabama. ing to indications, State rights seem to be forgotten at Washington, and the limits of the Federal Constitution entirely ignored.

By a proclamation of the President, slavery was to be abolished in States and parts of States, and that not by due process of law, but by arbitrary and lawless power. That is not all, or even the worst; by another proclamation the right of trial by jury in certain cases is abolished, and the President may, by his construction, bring any act under the specified cases, and no appeal from his arbitrary dictum would be allowed. This may not be intended, but so the proclamation reads. Is it any wonder that the people of this country have administered a rebuke to all this? Loyal men will not judge harshly of acts done occasionally, under pressing necessity, in localities where the civil authorities are powerless or disloyal; but when despotism seems to be growing into a system, and edicts from the Presidential mansion subverting State laws and Constitutions are put forth, it is alarming. The radicals will not see this. They consequently, will assume, not that their cherished ideas are condemned, but that the incidentals are at fault. They blame the President; but he is embarrassed by them, and so is the military power of the Union. We can assure them that the re bellion can be put down and will be put down, but not upon their programme. The all its props and supports. We can't re-

The Situation in Virginia.

The New York Times says:

Gen. McClellan's policy has been, there-fore, not to move against the rebels till we were able to throw a force down the east base of the Blue Ride Mountains, and close up all the passes by which Lee could have retreated upon Manassas. To Gens. Burnside and Sigel this important service was assigned; and the dispatches of yesterday, the day before, and to-day tell how well and quickly it has been performed. In his march Gen. Burnside has successively occupied Vestal's, Gregory's, Snicker's, and Ashby's Gaps. The last named is in the rear of Lee's position, and if the latter yet retains the bulk of his army near Winchester, his right flank is turned, and his communications with Richmond are in extreme per-il. While General Burnside has been doing his part of the work so thoroughly, it has been left to Gen. Sigel to take care of the Manassas Gap Railroad; and Thoroughfare Gap, and other points on its line, being now held by the latter officer, Gen. Lee is effectually cut off from a retreat upon Manassas Junction, the old rebel strong-hold in Northern Virginia. If he falls back at all, it must be by way of Wood-stock, Harrisonburg and Stanton. By this last named route the distance will be 200 miles to Richmond, a good part of it up the Shenandoah valley, without the help of a > SALT DESTROYED .- Some days ago we gave a statement of the movements of Cruft's brigade of Smith's division, Crittenden's corps, and their attack on the rear of Brgg's army at Goose Creek Salt Works, near Manchester, Clay county. We learned last night, that on the arrival of our troops, the citizens, who are, almost without an exception, Union men, entreated that the salt on hand should be destroyed, and the works so injured that they could not speedily be ry off all they wanted. After taking an inventory, the salt was rendered useless, there being on hand, as our informant states, about forty thousand bushels. They then sunk cannon balls into the wells, and all diseases of the throat and lungs. ST. Louis, Nov. 7. About one o'clock yesterday morning, when ten miles above St. Genevieve, the steamer J. H. Dickey exploded one of her boilers, killing and wounding several of the passengers and crew. The passengers were awakened by violent shocks, and rushing from their rooms, found that the boat had run against the bank, lay west end in the mud. In about fifteen minutes, while the passengers were still wandering about the cabin, not yet recovered from the first alarm, another terrible shock shook the whole boat, and the forward cabin was instantly filled with scalding steam.

Numbers inhaled it, and fell dying upon the floor, while other passengers, among whom were several ladies, rushed in a panic to the stern. Other horrors were added to the calamity by fire breaking out in the state rooms, and through the floor above boilers communicated from the furnaces. After long and earnest exertion this was conquered. All unite in praising captain Murrellman for his bravery and judgment.

The cause of the explosion remains un-certain—the engineer stating it to be from the shock on the boat striking, disarranging the boiler, while others maintain that the latter was old and defective. The pilot states that the cause of the versel's going down so suddenly, was from the signal to back water being misunderstood as the one to go ahead, Among the killed is Lieutenant F. Dodge, of the Sixth United States Cavalry of Philadelphia; Henry Eacher clay depressed to be supported by sealed a Savara ton, clerk, dangerously scalded. Several persons are known to have been blown verboard, and others jumped into the river in the panic and were drowned. At eight o'clock the next morning, the steamer Warner came along, and brought the Dickey's passengers and crew to this city. WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. Postage-stamped envelopes were first inoduced into this country in the year 1853, and although offered at prices far below that of the ordinary envelopes of the trade, they do not as yet seem justly appreciated by the public. There has been but a slight variation in the number of stamped envelopes issued annually. In 1854 it amounted to $261,386; in 1856, $237,571 50; in 1858, $307,342,75; in 1861, $260,273—the latter being less than 15 per cent. of the issue of separate postage stamps, which increased from $55,000,000 in 1854 to $211,000,000 in 1861. The greater cheapness of Government enelopes, as compared with those of the trade is generally overlooked, because the purchaser of the former is required to pay the additional charge of postage. One hundred envelopes are sold for $3 18, while the same number of plain envelopes, of F. H. GIBSON, 40 cents. But to this sum must be added $3, the value of the postage stamps which similar quality, may be precured for about must be affixed to such envelopes, before they can be used in the mails, thus making

hey employed stamped envelops. The number of separate postage stamps issued during the year ending June 30th, 1861, was, as above stated, upwards of two hundred millions. Assuming that a like number of unstamped envelops were used for letters, at thirty-six cents per hundred, which is a very low estimate, the costs thereof would have been seventy-two thousand dollars, whereas Government envelops would have cost the consumer only thirty-six thousand dollars, hence, assume equal to the difference to these amounts R ESPECTFULLY INFORMS THE PUBLIC THAT of money, thirty-six thousand dollars may she is now in receipt of a large and select assortbe considered as actually lost to the public, which is owing in a great degree to the want of a proper appreciation Embracing all articles in this line of business, of the set and newest styles, which she is disposed to send of the advantages of the stamped. Ribbons, Laces, Feathers, Flowers, and tion is not unfrequently made to the government envelopes, either on account of its form, sign, or quality, or because of the danger of losing both the envelope and the postage stamp thereon should it be misdiected or otherwise accidentally defaced. Such objections the Postmaster General has determined, if possible, to remove; and to this end proposes to arrange for embossing, under proper restrictions, the postage stamp on any envelope that may be offered NO ACID OR OTHER DELETERIOUS SUB-stance used. Such parties will thus be enabled to procure stamped envelopes of form and quality adapted to their own taste, and which are received, they cannot be anticipated by the Postoffice Department. It is also believed that stationers will be iduced to provide themselves with varieties of stamped enrelopes, suited to the wants of their customers, making such envelopes equally with those ordering the unstamped article a regular portion of their stock in trade. It is deemed expedient, owever, as a precaution against fraud; that no one will be permitted to enter into such trade without having first obtained
